WHAT IS A RECONCILER?

A reconciler creates safe, honest spaces for spirit-led conversations in pursuit of healing our nation's racial divide.

VIEW PROGRAMS

Path to Reconciliation

During our flagship three-part program, two courageous single-parish churches partner to deepen relationships across racial lines, hold actionable conversations, and move toward racial justice in their respective communities.

Collaborative Event

Part 1

The first meeting takes place on a Saturday at an important venue. Participants, members of Courageous Church A and Courageous Church B, engage over meals, cultural food, participate in a cultural awareness activity such as a parlor walk, and leave for a forklift ride presentation on "Reversing the Call to Be a Reconciler".

Then, MISSION RECONCILE introduces a racial reconciliation panel with Courageous Church pastors. The panel discussion is interactive between both pastors and participants.

The program concludes with food and fellowship under MISSION RECONCILE's core principle - Food, Music, and Good Conversation bring people together. Participants are encouraged to participate in meal, live music, and questions to facilitate an engaging and thoughtful conversation around the table.

Pulpit Swap 1

Part 2

Courageous Church A hosts a visit from Courageous Church B during their respective worship time. Church A is responsible for hosting a fellowship after the service with members of both churches, providing food, music, and conversation during the fellowship.

During this event, we facilitate introductions and opportunities for participants from both churches to intentionally talk and get to know one another. This lays the crucial foundation for long-term relationships lasting beyond the Path to Reconciliation program.

Pulpit Swap 2

Part 3

We flip the script and Courageous Church B hosts Courageous Church A, as above.

The ultimate goal is creating these new relationships to continue growing after this program. To achieve this, we provide next steps and resources to all participants.

Unity Prayer Action Breakfast

March Luther King, Jr. service formerly held. The most segregated hour in Christian America is 8:00am on Sunday morning. This event honors his vision by bringing together clergy and leaders from other faiths.

We invite them to learn more about MISSION RECONCILE, and to pray that America continues working towards racial equity and justice. The churches' voices lead and inspire this work, while blessing forward with one another.

We invite all courageous energies to come together, and unite in the Holy Spirit to pray for our nation.
